Dear Valued Customers and Suppliers,

Peerless Electronics, Inc. continues to monitor the unprecedented outbreak of Coronavirus, and continues to take appropriate measures to ensure continuity of production while balancing the health and safety of our employees. As various regions consider “Shelter in Place” or quarantine orders, many businesses will be subject to restrictions of workforce or closure; however, “Essential Businesses” will be allowed to remain in operation.

Based on definitions from Empire State Development, (https://esd.ny.gov/guidance-executive-order-2026) Peerless Electronics is an Essential Business. Peerless is a supplier of product to the United States Department of Defense, with DPAS-rated contracts, as well as a critical component supplier to the Aerospace Sector.

As such, Peerless will remain open during this crisis. Peerless has adopted safety measures such as telecommuting and remote access for all administrative staff. All in-house employees are adhering to health and safety guidelines and social distancing as prescribed by the US Government.

Peerless continues to communicate regularly with its suppliers, capturing updated order status information and keeping our customers informed of any changes to delivery that would impact their orders. We remain committed to providing the service and support that our customers and suppliers have come to expect of our company throughout this situation and will continue to provide updates as we learn more. Our sales team is available to review requirements and take appropriate actions with your orders.

Thank you for your continued support.

Bill Gallucci - President
